Michael Montijo's comedy is Latino style with many subjects originating from his own life circumstances. With a strong sense of family values and a passion to succeed Mike is driven and has paid his dues. Starting in Casa Grande, AZ and working the comedy clubs in Phoenix Mike was able to gain the momentum to make the jump into Hollywood. More recently you may have caught his set at the Improv, seen him on Latino Laugh Festival, or even BET's 'Coming to the Stage'.

Mike's comedy has led him to a number of new and fresh directions within entertainment. Working on several film projects and an animated series labeled "the next Simpsons" by industry leaders leaves little time to slow down.

Mike was recently blessed with his first son and has discovered a whole new arena of comedy. Now with eight+ years of comedic experience under his belt and an arsenal of new material Mike is busting guts all over America.
